ECO-FRIENDLY TEMPLATE PROTECTOR™ ENABLES EASY CLEAN-UP, PROMOTES BOLT STAR® REUSABILITY

Sacramento, CA (October 8, 2017) – Bolt Star LLC, manufacturer of the award winning BOLT STAR reusable bolt template, announced today the addition of an eco-friendly release agent called TEMPLATE PROTECTOR™. The new product made its debut at the NECA Show in Seattle, Washington.

TEMPLATE PROTECTOR's mixture of corrosion inhibitors and non-stick polymers act like Teflon on a frying pan, coating BOLT STAR against concrete spatter and potentially harmful concrete build-up. Concrete spatter rinses off with water. The product can be sprayed or brushed on, dries in 15-20 minutes and lasts for up to one week between applications. It does not freeze after application, and the environment is protected from the product's non-carcinogenic and solvent less composition. TEMPLATE PROTECTOR can even be used on BOLT STAR templates with pre-existing build-up to slowly remove concrete build-up that is already there. The product is being specially manufactured for Bolt Star LLC by Cresset Chemical Company of Weston, Ohio.

Regular use of TEMPLATE PROTECTOR promotes reusability of the award winning BOLT STAR templates which are designed to be used over and over again with proper maintenance. Made in the USA, BOLT STAR improves pole base construction efficiency by 57% and significantly improves the productivity of crews by eliminating the time consuming, repetitive and error prone practice of building wood bolt templates.
